

Enjoy a few examples of the great military heritage that survives in the Santos port region, which yesterday protected our territory and today welcome visitors to tell a wonderful epic story that is so well described by Victor Hugo Mori (architect, IPHAN) in Arquitetura Militar –Um Panorama Histórico a Partir do Porto de Santos [Military Architecture – A History from the Port of Santos]. If you enjoy it, go further and read: Muralhas de Pedras, Canhões de Bronze e Homens de Ferro [Walls of Stone, Cannons of Bronze, and Men of Iron], an exhaustive historical study conducted by IPHAN historian Adler Homero Fonseca de Castro, in four volumes.

These compendia on the history of Brazil through its military profile were edited with institutional support from the Brazilian Army's Cultural Foundation: www.funceb.org and other institutions concerned with the preservation of history.

Welcome to the magic carpet of history, which studies the past to help us understand the present and better design the future.

Follow the motto of the Brazilian Army: "Strong Arm - Helping Hand" (...)
