

Acapulco, México

Guarujá, Santos, Brasil

Maybe, someday ...

In Acapulco, Mexico, tourist ships dock in front of the Fuerte de San Diego. A walkway over the coastal avenue provides direct access to the beautiful historic stronghold.

In Santos, tourist ships dock in front of the Itapema Fortress, which is located on the other bank of the estuary in Guarujá. A 500 m trajectory between the Fortress and the Air Base, with a passage (over or the railroad line, or under it, along the sea), would provide the future metropolitan airport access to the deep waters (Itapema) in front of the Maritime Terminal.

A dream? Perhaps...

Some people work in the fields of imagination; others realize the future.
